The Papal System Today: an Analysis of the News

Joe Biden and the Wafer-God of Rome

*Francis and America's Bishops Turn a Blind Eye
To His Support for Child Murder*

The issue of whether or not a high-profile Roman Catholic politician like U.S. President Joe Biden, who supports abortion, should be allowed to partake of the wafer and wine during what Rome calls “communion”, has been a red-hot issue for all of 2021. Now, however, it has been resolved – in Biden’s favour.

The Francis/Biden Meeting

Joe Biden met the pope of Rome, Francis I, in the Vatican on the 29th October, where they held a private meeting in the papal library for 75 minutes. Afterwards the Vatican press office issued a statement which said: “During the course of the cordial discussions, the Parties focused on the joint commitment to the protection and care of the planet, the healthcare situation and the fight against the COVID-19 pandemic, as well as the theme of refugees and assistance to migrants. Reference was also made to the protection of human rights, including freedom of religion and conscience. Finally, the talks enabled an exchange of views on some matters regarding the current international situation, also in the context of the imminent G20 summit in Rome, and on the promotion of peace in the world through political negotiation.”¹

So for the most part the cosy Francis/Biden chat was all about issues dear to the hearts of these two Communism-lovers, and of radicals everywhere.

This is not at all surprising. Francis fully supported Biden’s rise to power in America, because Biden’s agenda matched that of Francis and the Jesuits so well. Under Francis, Roman Catholicism has swung so far to the left that it would be barely recognisable to Roman Catholics of earlier generations. Francis is a committed globalist, a one-worlder. And so of course is Biden.

And as for Biden partaking of the Romish “communion”, things became very interesting indeed.

The Vatican Winks at Biden’s Sin: Here’s Why

Joe Biden calls himself a devout Roman Catholic. Now according to official Roman Catholic doctrine and canon law, abortion is a grave sin – yet Biden strongly supports it. How then can he be a devout Roman Catholic? Yet despite openly flaunting his support for these sins – support which would get a less highly-placed Papist excommunicated – Biden enjoyed the backing of the Roman pope and of extremely influential American bishops in his rise to power in the White House. They completely overlooked, or downplayed, his support for abortion, not to mention various other aspects of his life and beliefs which were at odds with Roman Catholic teaching. Where other members of the Romish religion would have faced the wrath of the hierarchy if they held similar beliefs, Biden was essentially given a free pass.

Why?

Although it is almost unbelievable to many devout Papists, the reason is really quite simple, for this is by no means the first time the Romish hierarchy has turned a blind eye to a prominent Papist's sins if it would in any way advance the power and authority of the Papal system in the world. The fact of the matter is that the Vatican wanted Joe Biden to become president. For Biden, like the Jesuit-controlled Vatican of Francis, is a committed globalist who will do anything to advance the one-world agenda of the Vatican, international Communism, the United Nations, etc. He is a puppet of the Jesuits, as I explained in a previous article (*The Bishops' Dilemma: What to Do about Joe Biden?*²). The Vatican wanted Biden in the White House, as it was fervently hoped he would strengthen the Vatican's power and influence (and particularly that of its Jesuits) over the United States, and also be a very useful puppet to advance Vatican/Jesuit interests around the world, so as to consolidate the Vatican vice-grip on world leaders and on the world itself.

This is why the Roman Catholic hierarchy in the United States turned a blind eye to Biden's blatant support for things which go against official Roman Catholic doctrine.³ After all, opposing abortion in America does little, if anything, to advance the Vatican agenda; but having a Vatican puppet in the White House? Ah, that is useful indeed. So what if millions more babies would die under the Biden administration? This is of no real concern to Rome, the world's most murderous institution. It has been killing babies and adults, men and women, Christians and Jews, for centuries.

However, millions of Roman Catholic Americans, and indeed Roman Catholics the world over, were both horrified and mystified by Francis' support for Biden. They knew that according to the teaching of their "Church", no priest was to give the wafer-god and the wine to Biden during the Popish mass. According to the Roman Catholic code of canon law, those "obstinately persevering in manifest grave sin are not to be admitted to Holy Communion."

Francis, however, knew that the stakes were too high. He and his Jesuits had to support Biden and keep him happy at all costs. Hence the meeting between the two men at the Vatican.

The Francis/Pelosi Meeting

Not too many days prior to this meeting, Francis also met with the powerful U.S. House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, in the Vatican. Clearly the Vatican was sending a clear message to Roman Catholics the world over: that the pope and his Jesuits would be supporting the Biden administration to the hilt.

Pelosi, a radical feminist and Socialist who, like Biden, claims to be a devout Roman Catholic even though she is rabidly pro-abortion (and pro- many other hideous policies dear to the Biden administration), made it very clear in her statement that the priorities for the Biden White House and the Vatican were very far removed from protecting the unborn, but had everything to do with promoting Socialist/Marxist objectives: "His Holiness' leadership is a source of joy and hope for Catholics and for all people," her statement said, "challenging each of us to be good stewards of God's creation, to act on climate, to embrace the refugee, the immigrant and the poor and to recognize the dignity and divinity in everyone."⁴ Radical environmentalism, Communist "social justice" issues, etc. – these are issues dear to the hearts of Pelosi, Biden and Francis. But the murder of the unborn? This wicked woman is on record as having said that it is "none of our business how other people choose the size and timing of their families." So: it's none of the government's business when people murder unborn babies, but it's very much their business to interfere in every aspect of people's lives when it comes to private property, border security, uncontrolled immigration, "climate change", etc., etc.!

This lying, conniving hypocrite said, "It would be a dereliction of duty for us not to go into the future in a green way and [one] that responds to the urgency of the climate crisis. It's all about the children." What an outrageous, brazen lie. It's "all about the children" when it comes to the Green agenda, but it's not about the children at all when it comes to murdering them in their mothers' wombs! Then it's all about "a woman's right to do as she chooses with her own body". There are no words to adequately describe the depravity of a woman like this. Or of her political party, her boss – or her pope.

She went on: "We will leave them a world where they can be healthy, where they can thrive and reach their fulfilment." That is, if they even enter the world at all. An aborted baby has lost its health, for it has lost its very life; it cannot thrive, for it has been prevented from even entering the world; and it cannot “reach its fulfilment” as its life is snuffed out before it is even born.

Keep Going, Good Catholic

When he emerged from the closed-door, 75-minute chat with Francis, Biden said that he and Francis prayed for each other, but did not discuss abortion. This in itself was telling: why would the Roman pope not raise the issue of abortion with a pro-abortion president who claimed to be a Roman Catholic? Why would the ruling head of the worldwide “Church” of Rome, the spiritual ruler of all Roman Catholics including Biden, not take the opportunity to strongly condemn Biden’s support for abortion, demand that he cease that support immediately, and warn him that if he failed to do so he would be refused permission to receive the dough and wine during the mass in future? He had a golden opportunity, as Biden’s ultimate spiritual leader, to do so. But he did not. And we know he did not, because the Vatican did not contradict Biden when he said they did not discuss abortion.

Then Biden dropped his bombshell. He said, “We just talked about the fact that he was happy I was a good Catholic.” And he added that Francis told him to “keep receiving Communion.”⁵

So the pope of Rome – supreme head of the worldwide Roman Catholic institution – had the U.S. president in his library for 75 minutes, and instead of rebuking him he called him a “good Catholic” despite his support for child murder, and told him to continue receiving “communion” contrary to official Roman Catholic theology! If that had been an ordinary Roman Catholic who had met with Francis, someone without any power or influence in world politics, we may be sure he would not have left that library with the praise of the Roman pope ringing in his ears. Quite the opposite. But Rome has always had one standard for the common people and another for the high and mighty who can achieve certain Vatican objectives in exchange for a free pass from having to live a faithful Roman Catholic life. Biden was called a “good Catholic” by the Roman pope because he was carrying out the Vatican’s wishes. In like manner the Vatican referred to Hitler as a faithful Roman Catholic, a “son of the Catholic Church” who “defended Christianity”. And many other evil political leaders through the centuries have been given the same warm treatment – as long as they were useful to Rome.

And again, we know that Biden was not lying, because the Vatican did not contradict him. In fact, when asked about Biden’s remarks, all that the director of the Vatican press office said was, “I would consider it a private conversation, and it is limited to what was said in the public statement.”⁶

And the fact is that Biden did receive “communion” at a Roman Catholic place of worship in the city of Rome, a day after Francis called him a “good Catholic.” According to a Reuters report, “Pope Francis is also the bishop of Rome, so Biden went to mass and received communion in [Francis’] archdiocese.”⁷

Francis’ Justification for Turning a Blind Eye

So how did Pope Forked-Tongue justify his support for Biden partaking of the Romish sacrament of the mass despite the man’s support for the sin of murder? Forked-tongue Jesuit that he is, Francis first acknowledged that abortion is murder. He had to – after all, it’s the official teaching of his “Church”. But then he added, “Communion is not a prize for the perfect... Communion is a gift, the presence of Jesus and his Church.”⁸

Roll up, then, all Roman Catholic murderers! Your pope says you are free to take “communion”, believed by Romanists to be the actual body and blood of Christ. Oh, wait, not so fast – although your pope said it is not a prize for the perfect, the reality is this only applies to important and influential people such as Joe Biden. You nobodies at the bottom of the food chain can’t just show up at mass and demand to partake of the wafer and wine! No, you are subject to Roman Catholic canon law on such matters.

Picture this scene: two men, Roman Catholics, permit another man to commit murder, they do nothing to stop him, and then they actually justify his sin by saying it was his right to do as he wished. One of them is a tramp, the other a president with huge influence. They both attend mass expecting to eat their wafer-god. The presiding priest turns away the tramp, saying, “Your support for the commission of murder is a grave sin, and I must exclude you from participating.” He then turns to the president and says, “Ah, welcome, good Catholic! Of course you may continue receiving the wafer and wine! But, ahem, just remember that one good turn deserves another – you know, we’ll scratch your back but you must scratch ours, so to speak.” This is precisely what the world has witnessed with the Francis/Biden meeting.

If Francis can welcome a supporter of child murder to partake of the wafer-god of Rome, then there is absolutely no sin, committed by an influential world leader, which he would not be prepared to overlook if it would advance the Vatican/Jesuit agenda for world domination. The Roman Whore has not changed in the least. She is still willingly “committing fornication” with the rulers of the world (Rev. 17:2,18), raking in the profits of her prostitution.

The Latest Eucharistic Document from America’s Bishops: No Rebuke for Biden

For many months – ever since Joe Biden openly defied the teaching of his “Church” and partook of the wafer and wine in the Romish mass – conservative Roman Catholics, and conservative priests and bishops, have demanded clarification: was anything going to be done about this flagrant defiance? Would the bishops act? Was Rome now changing its official doctrinal position?

Under pressure, America’s bishops began preparing a new document on the Popish eucharist. They knew the people needed answers. But they were walking a tightrope. How would they negotiate these troubled waters? They debated for months. Then they voted on the document, it was overwhelmingly accepted and published in November, entitled “The Mystery of the Eucharist in the Life of the Church.”

Those who hoped that the document would cement official Romish doctrine and rebuke the likes of Biden and Pelosi, forbidding them from partaking of “communion” in the future, were doomed to disappointment and confusion. The new document was a masterpiece in Jesuitical obfuscation. The waters were muddied still further.

“The product of months of debates and revisions, the final text avoids any overt references to whether bishops and priests ought to deny Communion to public figures at odds with Catholic teaching on abortion and other morals.”⁹ Although the document mentions abortion, it does not state that pro-abortion, liberal Roman Catholic politicians should be denied “communion”.

The document says, “There are some sins, however, that do rupture the communion we share with God and the Church. As the Church has consistently taught, a person who receives Holy Communion while in a state of mortal sin not only does not receive the grace of the sacrament, he or she commits the sin of sacrilege by failing to show the reverence due to the Body and Blood of Christ.” And: “If a Catholic in his or her personal or professional life were knowingly and obstinately to reject the defined doctrines of the Church, or knowingly and obstinately to repudiate her definitive teaching on moral issues, however, he or she would seriously diminish his or her communion with the Church.” “Reception of Holy Communion in such a situation would not accord with the nature of the Eucharistic celebration, so that he or she should refrain.”

In the past, deviation from official Romish doctrine on such an important matter was never tolerated. But now? Now, the liberal bishops of America had essentially decided to cave in to the “leave it to one’s own conscience” approach. By doing this they believed they had managed to wriggle and squirm their way out of their very difficult position: they re-stated that abortion is a great sin, but at the same time they essentially stated that each Roman Catholic politician is free to act according to his conscience in the matter. “He or she should refrain” – but they would not force him or her to do so! “It’s a sin” – but we’ll leave it up to the individual to act as he pleases in the matter. This is the gist of what they were saying in the document.

How different this approach to the age-old Roman Catholic one of demanding, and enforcing, total obedience to its teachings. However, before the reader thinks to himself, “Well, this is good as far as it goes, for Rome is being far less autocratic than it used to be,” this would be to miss the point entirely. Firstly, abortion is murder – no human being has any right whatsoever to “freedom of conscience” on the matter. Secondly, the only reason Rome is doing this – and thus far it is only applicable to American Roman Catholics – is so as not to offend powerful American politicians through whom it hopes to achieve great things for itself. It is bending its own rules just to keep the likes of Biden, Pelosi and other liberal Papists happy. These Papists essentially stared their bishops down. The bishops blinked first – and then they had to scramble to keep face. Hence the document. It is just the latest example of how the Great Whore will bend her own rules to commit fornication with the rulers of the earth to get what she wants. Even if it means performing theological gymnastics.
